Glass Proposes Direct Loans to Assist Industry

$140,000,000 Reserve Banks' Surplus Would Go to Speed Business

(By International News Service)

Washington, March 24. — Direct loans to business and industry by Federal Reserve Banks will be authorized in a bill to be introduced by Senator Glass, Democrat, of Virginia, he said today.

The announcement was deemed of exceptional importance because the Virginia senator held his first conference with President Roosevelt in many months Thursday and emerged from the White House with a declaration that he was "very happy."

While Senator Glass refused to divulge details of his bill, it was understood to provide for loans by existing banks, not from federal funds but from the $140,000,000 surplus the Reserve banks have in their deposit guarantee fund.

The measure also will provide for discounting paper of reliable industries, it was learned.

Congress now has before it two plans to thaw out credits for business and industry. One is an administration measure to create 12 new credit banks, one for each Federal Reserve District. This would involve use of federal funds for the loans. The other is a bill submitted to authorize RFC loans. It was presented by Jesse H. Jones, RFC board chairman.

Both bills have been referred to a subcommittee of the Senate banking committee.
