

ASKS UNIFORMITY IN LAWS ON PURE FOOD AND DRUGS

Feed Institute Executive Gives Talk to Convention Here

Lack of uniformity in food and drug regulations in the various states was deplored Thursday by Elliot Balestier, Jr., New York city, executive secretary of the American Dog Feed Institute, at the 4th annual convention of the United States at the Jung hotel.

Mr. Balestier said I hope in the interest of all American business that you will give serious thought to the problems of the manufacturer before, rather than after the imposition of regulations.

"Nothing is so discouraging," he said, "as to have a million labels printed which meet the requirements in 10 states, only to find they break the regulations in 10 other states."

Mr. Balestier asserted that no legitimate industry would fight honest enforcement.

"They feel it is a protection against 'gyps' and fly-by-nights in their own industry," he said, "but they do deplore the lack of uniformity and they would like to know some of the problems ahead of time."

E. L. Redfern of Iowa department of agriculture, Des Moines, told the delegates that before the advent of the refrigerated food locker, refrigeration was out of the reach of the little fellow and was administered "by what we call big business."

"As the locker plants were first built in Iowa," he said, "they were licensed under the provision of the Cold Storage Act of 1913. This law was not written with the operations of the modern service plant in mind and did not fit the requirements of the locker plant operators. The annual cold storage warehouse fee was set at $25 which locker men thought were high. So the cold storage regulations were amended in the 1939 general assembly and the license for cold storage lockers was put on a sliding basis with minimum charge of $10 per annum for 200 or less individual cold storage lockers."

The convention is scheduled to close today.

Pine Hills Hotel Property Studied for Seaplane Base

An offer of the old Pine Hills property in Hancock and Harrison counties, Mississippi, between Bay St. Louis and Pass Christian, for a United States Navy seaplane base is being considered by the navy department at Washington, it was announced Thursday, after a recent inspection by navy officers.

The property comprises some 1800 acres on a secluded arm of Bay St. Louis. Buildings on the property include the 180-room Pine Hills hotel, a golf clubhouse and cottages, and provide quarters, it is reported, for some 500 officers and enlisted men.

Owners of the property, and chambers of commerce along the Mississippi Gulf coast, with the co-operation of the Mississippi congressional delegation at Washington, are working toward the goal of obtaining a seaplane base for training naval aviation cadets who could get their advanced training at the naval air station, Pensacola, Fla., only a short flight from Bay St. Louis.

RETIRED PROFESSOR OF YALE SUCCUMBS

(The Associated Press)
New Haven, Conn., Oct. 24.—Professor Emeritus William Reynolds Vance of the Yale university law school, nationally known authority on insurance law, died here Tuesday after a week's illness. He was 70 years old.

Professor Vance retired in 1938 after 20 years of association with Yale. He was former dean of the University of Minnesota law school and head of the law departments at Washington and Lee university and George Washington university.

In 1918, Professor Vance was general counsel for the bureau of war risk insurance in Washington. He was a native of Middletown, Ky., and during his lifetime was a champion of legal aid bureaus and small claims courts by which the poor might obtain justice which would normally be beyond their financial reach.

He wrote several books. Survivors include his widow, the former Anne Wilmer Hume of Chapel Hill, N. C., and two daughters, Frances S. and Anne G., who is an instructor at Ohio State university and a son, Thomas H., assistant professor at Dartmouth.

ing a report that an attempt had been made to assassinate President Tiburcio Carías Andino and also denying that there had been any uprising against the government.

"Spanish Honduras is at peace," said Mr. Williams.
